Dear Vianka Mandiola Aravena

Work visa under a Working Holiday Scheme

I am pleased to inform you that your application for a work visa under a Working Holiday Scheme has been approved.

Your work visa

Details of your work visa are at the bottom of this letter. Your work visa enables you to travel to and enter New Zealand before 20 June 2023. The travel conditions on your visa allow you to re-enter New Zealand multiple times after first entry.

Your working holiday will activate on the first day you enter New Zealand. You should therefore travel to New Zealand only when you are ready to start your working holiday.

You must leave New Zealand before your work visa expires. If you wish to extend your stay in New Zealand you will need to apply for another type of visa. If you were granted a work visa for 12 months under the United Kingdom Working Holiday Scheme, you may apply for the balance of 11 months under this scheme.

Conditions of your work visa

It is important that you read the conditions on your work visa carefully. You must have evidence of funds for your maintenance in New Zealand and if you do not have an onward or return ticket, evidence of further funds for the purchase of this ticket. You may also be asked to provide evidence of any other conditions that you were required to meet as part of the working holiday scheme under which you submitted your application.

You must not remain in New Zealand after your visa expires

You must hold a valid visa at all times while you are in New Zealand. If you do not hold a valid visa you will be in New Zealand unlawfully and you will be liable for deportation. If you do not leave voluntarily before you are served with a deportation order you will face a prohibition period preventing your return to New Zealand in the future.

Employment in New Zealand

When you find a job in New Zealand, you must show your work visa to your employer as evidence that you have permission to work in New Zealand. Your employer can verify the details of your visa online using VisaView. With your consent, other people or organisations such as health care providers or travel agents can verify the details of your visa using the Visa Verification Service. See www.immigration.govt.nz/visaview.

We may also e-mail you with information on temporary employment opportunities in New Zealand. The following website includes information that may assist you in finding and applying for jobs <https://www.newzealandnow.govt.nz/work-in-nz/finding-work/finding-applying-for-jobs>.

You can find employment information including New Zealand minimum employment rights at www.employment.govt.nz/starting-employment.

Travelling to and from New Zealand

If you plan to travel to or from New Zealand, please check the current COVID-19 border restrictions and vaccine requirements.

These requirements can change so we recommend referring to these often when planning travel.

Tax obligations while working in New Zealand

If you are going to work or open a bank account in New Zealand you will need an IRD number for tax purposes. You can download the IRD number application - non-resident/offshore individual form (IR742) from www.ird.govt.nz. The form has information on what supporting documentation you need to provide.

Travelling in New Zealand

Many visitors choose to drive while in New Zealand, however driving in New Zealand can be very different to driving in your own country. We drive on the left-hand side of the road, some of our roads are narrow, windy and have loose gravel, and it's not unusual to see sheep or cattle on roads in rural areas. You need to give yourself plenty of time to reach your destination, and to understand

New Zealand road rules and signs.

Even if you have driven in other countries, it's important to understand our rules for driving in New Zealand before you get behind the wheel. Visit www.drivesafe.org.nz for the key things to consider when planning your trip and as you make your journey around the country.

If you are planning to camp in New Zealand please adhere to local regulations. Information on where to camp can be found at i-SITE Visitor Centres, the www.camping.org.nz website and on various apps available to visitors. Failure to comply with local rules may result in a $200 fine.
